Review of Mining Activities in Canada

A very successful and interesting meeting of the Rocky Mountain Branch (Crows' Nest Section) of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy was held in the Greenhill Hotel, Blaimore, Sunday evening last, some thirty members and guests being present.

The regular business of the branch was quickly transacted, followed by an address by the guest of the evening, Mr. B. F. Townsley, Mining Editor of the Financial Post.

Mr. Townsley, in giving a review of the mining activities in the territory he had recently visited, touched upon the extraordinary activity in the gold mining camps of Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba, due to the increased price of gold in the world markets.

He also described some of the promotional and brokerage activities which this gold mining activity had engendered, some of it of a very questionable nature, to say the least. He also stressed the necessity for members of the Institute to associate themselves with publicity efforts to stem the tide of unscrupulous promotional propaganda.

In connection with the large lime deposits discovered in the James Bay area a few years ago, the speaker described some of the prospecting, development and research work which had been carried on by the Ontario Government, including tests on beneficiation, briquetting and etc.

Concerning the "National Coal Policy," which had been promised by the government before the last election, but which has so far failed to materialize, in the West at least, despite the coal subvention, the speaker stressed the necessity for publicity in order that a "Canadian Coal Mindness" be created among the general public of this Dominion.

In the discussion which followed the address, a number of very important factors were enumerated, notably the importance of the coal industry to Canada as shown by the "General Statistics on the Mineral Producing Industries of Canada for 1932," appearing below.

A careful perusal of these figures shows that coal mining, in a year of great stress in the industry, gave employment to more people than any other single department of the mining industry. That the Coal Industry had, with the exception of Smelting and Refining, by far the greatest amount of capital employed, and in addition paid out directly in wages and salaries the very substantial sum of $25,042,000, a sum which represented for 1932 nearly 75% of the income derived from the sale of the product, a feature not approached by any other department of mining.

Since Alberta and Eastern British Columbia are very large contributors to this feature of the mining industry, it was the feeling of the meeting that a national coal policy, which would assist the coal industry to displace the greater portion of the foreign coal now being imported into Canada, to what is known as the acute fuel area, would probably do more to alleviate the present unemployment situation than any one single thing, and would certainly be

FRANK ROUND.

HOUSE DESTROYED

The C.P.R. roundhouse at Frank was completely destroyed by fire at an early hour on Monday morning, and in it two stored engines were considerably damaged.

The Frank fire brigade were quickly on the scene, and promptly a call was made to Blaimore, the efficient brigade and equipment from the neighboring town was brought into commission most effectively. Both brigades worked valiantly, but were unable to hold back the flames to permit removal of the engines.

The C.P.R. are quite pleased with the service rendered by both bands of firemen. Without a doubt, had it not been for the use of Blaimore's emergency force pump, fire would have attacked and destroyed the coal chute, but forty feet away, and the warehouse of the Canadian Oils close by.

Scarcely an ash of the big roundhouse remains. The engines were damaged to the extent of all wood-work attachments and it will likely cost in the neighborhood of four or five thousands to replace same. Both were attached to Tuesday night's eastbound freight train, enroute to the Ogden shops at Calgary for repairs.

The origin of the fire is as yet a mystery, but two suspected parties, living in a shack nearby, have been arrested, and at the request of the magistrate remanded custody.

The C.P.R. have not yet announced as to whether or not they will rebuild at Frank, for the location is in part of the danger zone outlined by Dr. Allan and other prominent geologists.

A number of prominent C.P.R. officials have been on the scene since the fire, but have given out no report locally.

The annual report of the town of Vulcan shows the town as being in a strong financial position.

Smothering Sensations Faint and Dizzy Spells

Those feelings of faintness; those dizzy spells; those all-gone smothering, choking sensations that come over people from time to time, are warnings that should not go unheeded. They indicate an extremely weakened condition of the nerves and other vital organs, and should be given immediate attention. The only thing in this world will find in Milburn's Health Nerve Pills a remedy with which to recuperate their health, build up their run down system, and bring back their bodies to normal.

Ask your druggist for Milburn's H. & N. Pills.

Intolerance

Experience is a great teacher, and the world is learning many things from this period of financial and economic difficulty through which it is passing. In the process of learning, it is, of course, not only absorbing new ideas and accepting new standards but it is abandoning old ideas and methods. The world is losing certain things it can well afford to lose; the loss of which can indeed be set down as gain. The danger is, however, that it will lose other things which it can ill afford to lose, and may accept and adopt things which will spell loss and disaster in the future.

Signs are by no means lacking that one of the greatest losses which the world of mankind may suffer as the result of the times through which we are struggling is the loss of much of the political liberty gained through centuries of persistent striving and battle. In one European country after another dictatorships in government have been set up in varying degrees and in somewhat different forms, but the effect in every instance is to deprive men and women of much of the political liberty and rights of citizenship they formerly enjoyed. One or two individuals, or a small group, backed by force are imposing their wills upon tens of millions of people.

Acceptance by people in many countries of these dictatorships is one of the phenomena of this age. It appears to be the outcome, not of one only, but of several reactions to the experiences through which people are passing. In the first place, many individuals have lost confidence in themselves and in their own abilities to manage their affairs and order their lives. With this loss of confidence there is, of course, loss of ambition and initiative. They are willing to throw up their hands and let some other person, or group of persons, do their thinking for them and plan and manage their lives and life's activities. In a word, they have reached the stage where all they ask for is a bare materialistic existence, and they want that without any effort on their part or even the trouble of thinking and planning how it may be obtained.

The second contributing factor to the phenomena we are witnessing is fear. In the individual this is the outcome of the lack of confidence already noted, and it finds expression in public opinion throughout the State in doubts as to the ability of national institutions to withstand any attack that may be made against them. Thus the aspiring dictator who arises and proclaims his ability to handle the situation if only everything is left to him for decision and all necessary power is reposed in him for action. He promises quick action, decisive action, as contrasted with the slower, more moderate methods of democratic government. And because people are obsessed by fear, and weakened by a loss of confidence in themselves, they willingly bow before the dictator, or grasp at the glowing promises of a man or a group who, in reality, are no greater, wiser, more competent or far-seeing than they are themselves.

More deep rooted is the third cause of this present day phenomena. It reaches back into the ages of the past, the dark ages of the world. At recurring periods in the world's history it rears its ugly head. It is intolerance. It is never wholly absent but always slumbering in the breasts of mankind, ready to flare up upon almost any provocation and cause the great religious wars of the past; it caused the great racial struggles; it is deep rooted in social and economic struggles. Demagogues and dictators play upon this weakness in mankind. It is a brand they always use wherewith to start the fires of revolution.

The world to-day is witnessing a resurgence of intolerance. There was much of it during the last war, in fact it was cultivated by all the warring nations in order to spur on their people in the waging of that titanic struggle. The world is paying the price of that folly now. It bedevilled the Peace Conference; it has been the crippling factor in the councils of the League of Nations. It has resulted in narrow nationalism on the part of the nations; ever increasing armaments; every conceivable kind of trade-restricting device; in prohibitions, embargoes, quotas; in immigration prohibitions; in class legislation. It has been the cause of much of the evil of the world.

The Socialist-Communist leaders of Russia are determined to drive all Christian religion out of that great land because they are intolerant of everything but their own particular truth. Hitler and his followers are equally grim and determined against the Jews. Mussolini will brook no opposition to his own views and methods and rides roughshod over all who oppose him. And people everywhere who have sustained losses and are in difficulty because of the world depression are instead of looking to the basic cause, unthinkingly follow would-be leaders who intolerantly point to others who still possess some property as the people who are responsible for all the difficulties, losses and sufferings of others.

The world is going through a time of selfishness which has grown up in and around present day business, and such loss will be gain. But it is also, through intolerance going to lose that liberty for man which has been won at such a great price and that peace and comfort at the price of the loss of spiritual and intellectual liberty and, in some measure at least, of his economic, social and political freedom as well.

Intolerance may maintain dominance over men's minds for a time, but it will be but a temporary ascendancy, finally subsiding to flare up again at some future date. But during the period of its ascendancy it will work havoc, as it always has done and now does, and no man has made progress or happiness; it has only intensified the sorrows and troubles of the world always. Man needs to be on his guard against acceptance of any of its manifestations.

Wonderful Jewel Display

Costly Stones Seen At Birmingham Jewellers' Annual Ball

An astonishing display of jewels took place at the first annual ball of the Birmingham Jewellers. Many single pieces of jewellery on view were worth more than $30,000 each. There were diamonds as big as grapes, black and fire opals, emeralds, rubies, amethysts, topazes and pearls set in platinum and gold rings, brooches and necklets. The jewels, which were worn by England's loveliest maids, were worth altogether about $750,000. Mingling among the guests were armed detectives dressed in immaculate tails.

Austria will build many highways.

Have You Pimples or Boils?

Mr. T. A. Berry of Wellington, N. Z., writes: "I had a bad case of boils on my face and neck. I tried everything but nothing helped. I finally got a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I took them for a few days and the boils disappeared. I have had no return of them since."

London's First Taxi Driver

Sixty-Five-Year-Old Man Presented With Special Badge

Senior taxi-cab driver in London, and the first licensed driver of a petrol-driven vehicle, Mr. James Michael Howe, aged 65, of Hammer Lane, was presented with a special badge, specially made for him on the instructions of Lord Trenchard, Chief Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police.

"I have been a licensed driver for 40 years," Mr. Howe said in an interview. "I sold my cabs and horses in 1894, and when the motor-cabs came along in 1903 I drove the first one in London, mine being the only one plying for a few months."

Cost Of Municipal Government

The cost of municipal government in Canada in 1932 exceeded that of any previous year, according to a report of the Citizens' Research Institute, made public recently. In that year the per capita cost was $64.74, as compared with $53.12 in 1931, $60.63 in 1930 and $47.37 in 1929. Toronto was third on the list with a per capita cost of $64.61, behind Victoria with a cost of $60.95, and Edmonton, with $60.51.

Receives First Air Mail

Related Christmas Gifts Delivered At Copper Mine, N.W.T.

Winter isolation of the little post of Copper Mine on Canada's Arctic shore, broken January 23 with the arrival of the first air mail it has received.

The mail machine, piloted by Walter Gilbert, of Canadian Airways, hero of a sensational dash to the magnetic pole three years ago, brought 600 pounds of mail, including 8,209 "first flight" covers for collectors from all parts of the world. Accompanying the shipment was Postal Superintendent David Hale, of Edmonton. Third man in the machine was Lew Parmenter, air engineer.

Mail and related Christmas gifts from "outside," were distributed by Rev. J. Morris, Anglican missionary, who was sworn in as postmaster. Meanwhile, Parmenter, working in the shelter of a special igloo constructed by willing Eskimo hands to house the nose of the big Junkers plane, checked over the motor in readiness for the return flight.

The new post office serves traders and trappers over a strip of Arctic coast 1,000 miles in length.

A Coveted Honour

Manitoba Horticulturist Develops New Type Of Lily

Another popular assumption has been shattered by a doughty champion from the West. While public opinion has identified Eastern Canada more or less as the hub of floral plant breeding in the Dominion, the winning of a highly-prized and signal honour by a Manitoban at the world's great horticultural centre, the Royal Horticultural Society at London, England, has once more directed attention to the long list of champions emanating from Western Canada. A coveted honour, the Cory cup, has been awarded to Mr. F. L. Skinner, Dromore, Manitoba, for breeding a new variety of lily which he has named the Maxwell. The cup is awarded to the originator of the best new hardy plant of garden origin shown to the society during the year. The Maxwell lily was exhibited last July in London, and the presentation of the cup will be made with due ceremony at the next annual meeting of the society this month.

Not Entirely New Idea

Question Of Relief Was Vital Matter Many Years Ago

W. L. Clark, in Border Cities Star says the question of relief is not something that has been sprung on us within the last four years. Quite true, it has been a much greater problem recently, but it was a vital matter long before that.

We read that the late J. V. Cairns, formerly of Chatham and later leading merchant of Saskatoon, twenty years ago donated ten per cent. of the cash receipts of his store for two days to charity in Saskatoon.

Curiously enough, on the day Mr. Cairns made his announcement twenty years ago, wheat sold in Saskatoon for 68 1/2 cents per bushel, which was within a few cents of the current price.

Money Well Spent

It will cost $5,615,598, next year to operate the Royal Canadian Mounted Police force, the same figure as this year. It was shown in the financial estimates tabled in the house of commons. The total includes pay, clothing and allowances for the men, arms and ammunition, building and repairs to barracks, purchase of horses and dogs, and all items down the line to stationery and printing.

Asking Too Much

The manager called his office boy into his room and indicated his desk. "Look at this," he said sharply. "It is disgraceful! Why can't you keep it cleaned and polished as you do the banister rail outside?" The boy shook his head artfully. "Well, sir," he replied, "in the last put out, 'I can't very well slide down your desk.'"

Savings per season $1,310,649.00

Five cargoes have already been booked to load at Churchill on the opening of navigation, four for Liverpool and one to London.

George H. Smith, secretary of the conference, stated that the Department of Trade and Commerce is taking an active interest in the development of trade through Churchill, and were represented at the meeting by the Chief of the Commercial Intelligence Department, Mr. A. E. Forington, who advised the delegates that the problem of providing refrigerated space for butter, lard, and other perishable commodities, had now been successfully solved.

Probe Building Industry

Appointment Of Federal Government Commission Is Urged

Appointment of a federal government commission to investigate the building industry was urged in a resolution passed at the final session of the Canadian Construction Association, completing a three-day convention in Toronto.

The purpose of the commission, the resolution indicated, would be to establish a more even level in the industry, abolishing the wide fluctuations through which it now moves from year to year.

The government was asked in a resolution to appoint someone from the association to sit with the government in all deliberations about unemployment relief insurance.

W. H. Yates, Jr., of Hamilton, was elected president. Col. W. A. Foster, of Vancouver and Cecil Gunn, of Winnipeg, were elected western vice-presidents.

Road Accidents In England

Nineteen People Killed Every Day

According to reports, Nineteen people were killed and 592 were injured every day last year upon the roads of Great Britain, according to a home office report. The total number of recorded accidents resulting in death or personal injury was 191,829, or which 6,924 proved fatal. This makes an increase of 7,252 in the total number of accidents, and of 437 in the total of fatal accidents.

In the London metropolitan police district 1,409 people were killed and nearly 57,000 injured, compared with 1,266 and 52,000 in the previous year. Next to London, Birmingham has the highest total of killed and injured.

Milngavie, Scotland, has abandoned its street cars and is seeking government permission to operate trolley buses.

A Mediterranean Voyage

Aquitania Sailing From New York On March 7

Outstanding experts in various fields have been chosen as members of the cruise staff for the voyage of the Cunard liner, Aquitania, from New York to the Mediterranean on March 7th.

The Cruise Director is Francis Peabody Hamlin, who has had plenty of experience on other Cunard cruises including the exacting Round-the-World variety. In reference to the masculine wardrobe on these cruises, Mr. Hamlin remarks:

"A pair of gray or brown flannel slacks are always in order with an odd tweed coat or Norfolk jacket on shipboard for daytime wear, or perhaps you prefer knickerbockers and golf stockings. Spring suits are useful as we approach the warmer climate of the Mediterranean and even a lighter weight suit, such as a gabardine, might be needed if you take the optional trip to Upper Egypt."

"You will wear a heavy overcoat down to the dock. A spring overcoat should also be taken or the all-around useful canvas' hair coat could be substituted for both. It is general to dress in the evening for dinner and Tuxedo suffices on shipboard and ashore unless perchance you know the Prince of Monaco personally in which case you should bring your full dress."

Lucille B. Van Siller will be the Social Directress. She has had experience in the social life of diplomatic Washington in reference to women's clothes, she recommends: "You are advised to bring a heavy-weight evening dress, a light-weight evening wrap. All of your sports clothes are just the thing. You will wear your tailored suit, too. Should you bring a light-weight day dress, you may want to slip into one after an all-day's sightseeing tour. You may feel too tired to go formal. Your sports clothes are knitted or jersey or light-weight woollens, perhaps tweed. As to the number of evening clothes you have brought—that is such a personal matter."

"Last year at only one port was rain encountered. Everyone with an umbrella, a pair of all-weather rubbers or a slick-looking rain cap looked very smart to those who had not been so forethoughtful. Every woman who had worn heavy stockings and those close-fitting, highly-adorned undergarments suffered not at all. 'Are you going to bring a costume for the Fancy Dress night?' That is always a big question. Your costume, if not the most beautiful, and by the way, as an afterthought you may bring a pair of comfortable walking shoes with you."

R. A. Gordon will be assistant Social Director, and Leon Dabo will be Cruise Lecturer. The latter is internationally known as a painter and a speaker of remarkable facility. He has studied under great masters and many of his works hang in the Luxembourg and the Metropolitan Museum in New York.

Other members of the cruise staff include Mrs. D. B. Wisdom, Bridge Hostess, who will also give bridge classes; George Ferrier, Golf Director, who has been the ship's "pro" on a good many Cunard cruises; has played many of the Mediterranean courses and will help the passengers to arrange matches and rounds on some of the best courses.

Predicts Second Slide

Geologist Advises People At Frank, Alberta, To Move

Warning that the railroad, highway, telephone lines and homes of people in the valley should be moved, Dr. J. A. Allan, geologist at the University of Alberta, declared that a second slide is possible at Frank, Alberta.

"Three million cubic yards are definitely preparing to give way on Turtle mountain," he said. He declared that it was useless to attempt to dynamite sections but to clear the area "and let nature take its course." Between 85 and 90 persons died in the slide, which occurred on April 29, 1903.

Dr. Allan said that he spent some time last summer in examining the mountain and found new fissures, some of them 40 feet wide and hundreds of feet deep, and giving off peculiar noises.

Canadian Composer

Celebrated Contralto Sings Songs Composed By Montreal Man

Sigrid Oengin, celebrated contralto, is proud to have in her repertoire a song written by the Canadian composer, Emiliano Renaud, of Montreal, whose work, she believes, will be famous in years to come.

"I was in Switzerland five years ago," she began, telling the story of her first meeting with him in the course of an interview, "and one day I received a great pile of music from this Emiliano Renaud, who said he was an admirer of my voice. My accompanist and I went over the music and found some songs of rare beauty. I at once learned them and sang them for the first time on my next visit to Montreal."

No Danger From Gases

Deadliest Kind Can Never Be Used In War

By getting into a hot bath the average person would be almost completely safe during a wartime gas attack, Dr. Francis Preth, of the headquarters staff of the Imperial Chemical Industries Ltd., said in a lecture at London.

Dr. Preth ridiculed popular fears of poison gas as a war weapon. The deadliest gases, he said, can not be used in a war.

The only effective military gas, Dr. Preth declared, is mustard gas, the value of which is now ended, he said, since complete defensive measures have been discovered.

World production of boots and shoes in the first half of 1933 was 675,000,000 pairs, an increase of 20 per cent. over the first six months of 1932.

CHARGE IS MADE COMBINES EXIST IN INDUSTRIES

Ottawa.—Combines exist in Canada controlling production and distribution of 10 necessities of life, it was charged in the house of commons by Harry Butcher, Liberal member for East Mountain, Sask. He listed bread, fruit, milk, fish, coal, cotton, cement, pulp and paper, asbestos and radios as commodities controlled by combines.

"This house," exclaimed the Saskatchewan member, "has a duty to deal with these men (controlling the combines) and if we fail we cannot complain if replaced by others."

The Consolidated Companies act now planned between the Dominion and provinces should provide machinery to deal adequately with combines and unscrupulous stock promoters, said Mr. Butcher. "Financial brigandage" was being imported from the United States and sharp penalties were needed to curb "pernicious immoral practices."

The address debate was continued when private members were not prepared to discuss their resolutions and motions. J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the C.C.F., pressed for labor codes for industries, making large profits and paying small wages; nationalization of the nickel industry to prevent the manufacture of armaments, and government investigation of "financial promoters and manipulators."

In his combine speech, Mr. Butcher stressed the radio industry as an example. He said an investigator under the Dominion Combines act had found sufficient evidence to warrant court action against five manufacturers of radios and tubes but the attorney-general of Ontario declined to prosecute.

He called upon the federal government to lay charges against the duty against imported radios or revoke the patents. The alleged combine existed, he said, through fixed prices, set patent fees for manufacturers and lessened competition.

Illuminated Highways

Would Do Away With Head Lights On Cars

Toronto.—Illuminating highways sufficiently to permit driving without head lamps will be achieved "sooner than is imagined," in the opinion of W. P. Dobson, chief testing engineer of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power commission, who addressed the Association of Municipal Electrical Utilities convention here.

Incandescent lamps, he predicted, would disappear and give place to facilities that would produce "cold" light. Highways, he believed, would be illuminated by the use of sodium lamps with an expenditure of two kilowatts per mile.

Seek Lower Freight Rates

Crow's Nest Rates Asked For Grain Moving Westward

Ottawa.—Designed to provide lower freight rates on grain from Fort William to the Pacific coast, an amendment to the Railway act will be introduced in the house of commons by Thomas Reid (Liberal, New Westminster).

The bill would make the Crow's Nest rates, now applying on grain moving eastward from Calgary to the head of the lakes, applicable to grain shipments from Fort William to Vancouver.

Says U.S. Should Join

Propose Wage Investigation

Hon. Chas. Stewart Would Probe Industrial Activities

Ottawa.—Hiding behind tariff protection, some Canadian manufacturers have made excessive profits throughout the depression yet paid the lowest wages in history to their employees, it was charged in the house of commons by Hon. Charles Stewart, former minister of the interior. He proposed a sweeping investigation into industrial activities, along the lines proposed for chain and departmental store buying practices.

"An credibly informed," said the former Alberta premier, "and I am going to ascertain the truth of the matter, that in western Ontario there is an individual engaged in production of silk stockings and silk underwear who stands to make a profit well over $200,000 this year and he is paying the lowest wages as ever paid."

There was need of an investigation to stop extravagant profits and low rates of pay, said Mr. Stewart and at the same time, to determine how manufacturers were hiding behind tariff protection.

Problem Of The Idle

Hon. Arthur Meighen Says Canada Should Study Efforts Of Roosevelt

Ottawa.—Canada should study carefully and with a lot of sympathy the courageous efforts of the president of the United States to overcome the serious conditions with which that country is faced, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen declared in the senate. As government leader in that chamber he was speaking on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Canada was doing, he believed, the best it could to meet the situation. Day by day, hour by hour, this great problem of the unemployed was being impressed upon him, Senator Meighen said.

Titles Resolution

Labor Member For Hamilton East Makes New Motion

Ottawa.—Hamphrey Mitchell, labor member for Hamilton East, withdrew his "titles resolution" from the house of commons order paper and filed a substitute with the clerk based on the suggestion made by Francis B. Bissett.

The new motion reads "that in the opinion of this house the prime minister should refrain from recommending to His Majesty the King the granting of titles, honors and awards to British subjects resident in Canada."

Receives Letter From Queen

On that occasion Mr. Timnos transported the queen in his little sedan from the stalled royal limousine to the queen's destination in Cambridge.

Want Interest Moratorium

The union decided to ask the provincial legislature to provide that judges may remit interest as well as principal payments entirely within their own discretion.

Verne Sankey Arrested

Former Westerner Is Suspected Of Kidnapping

Chicago.—Verne Sankey, one of the United States' notorious kidnappers, suspected of the fatal Lindbergh abduction and nearly a half dozen others, was captured here by federal agents.

Ten former Melville, Sask. railroad turned desperado was taken in a Northside barber shop. He was unarmed and offered no resistance.

In his clothing were found several poison pills, presumably carried for the purpose of ending his own life in event of apprehension. He was overpowered, however, before having a chance to use them.

In the apartment of the 43-year-old naturalized Canadian was found a small arsenal—two .38 calibre revolvers, a saved-off shotgun and a large quantity of ammunition. In a tin box was found $3,200 in $100 bills, $200 in $20 bills and $30 in $1 bills. A woman giving the name of Helen Matters also was arrested in the apartment. She denied knowing Sankey's true identity.

MOVE TO SET MINIMUM WORLD WHEAT PRICE

London.—Government legislation and a thorough-going propaganda campaign to encourage a wider use of wheat were reported to be among the main recommendations of the international wheat commission, which seeks to relieve an unfavorable price situation in that commodity.

The committee completed its study of proposals for ending a glut of wheat stocks by increasing consumption.

Its drafting committee was expected to combine these suggestions with a project to set a minimum world wheat price, the commission resuming its conference when the report is ready for final approval.

It was considered almost certain that the minimum price recommendations will go to the 21 governments represented in the commission without official publication here, but it was indicated strongly that the index price will be about 55 gold cents—the average British parcel price.

A campaign in the far east to educate millions of people in those countries to eat wheat—now a negligible part of their diet—probably will be recommended, it was learned.

The governments can enforce a greater consumption by law through measures restricting the amount of flour extracted from wheat and requiring the denaturing or cutting of green wheat to insure its use for animal feed, A. Calme, Canadian secretary of the commission, said. He cited measures taken in France and Italy as precedents for such action.

Flight Ends In Tragedy

Crew Of Soviet Balloon Killed While Attempting To Land

Moscow.—All three members of the crew of the Soviet stratosphere balloon "Osoaviakhim" were killed, several hundred kilometers southeast of Moscow, near the village of Potikiyostrog.

They reported an altitude which they reported as 57,585 feet and beginning a descent, the crew reported they could not determine their position.

The crew was killed while attempting to land the great balloon. The balloon bag broke away from the gondola as it hit the ground in a hard landing. The force of the concussion killed the three occupants of the gondola and destroyed all the scientific instruments aboard.

Following the crash the bag tore loose from the gondola and disappeared into the clouds.

Searching For Coal

Mine Experts Have Already Found Iron Ore In Irish Area

Dublin.—The green of "Ould Ireland" may be covered by the smoke of industry if the Republican government is successful in its announced determination to make the Free State independent of the United Kingdom or any other country, for its fuel supplies.

French engineers and mining experts engaged in boring operations in the Arigna valley, County Leitrim, under government auspices, have discovered three rich veins of iron ore, it was announced. They were proceeding to search for coal.

President Of C.N.R.

Official Announcement Of Promotion Of S. J. Hungerford Has Been Made

Montreal.—Official announcement of the promotion of S. J. Hungerford to the presidency of the Canadian National Railways was made here by Hon. Charles F. Fullerton, chairman of the trustees.

Mr. Hungerford had been acting president since July 20, 1932, following the resignation of Sir Henry Thornton, who died later in New York City. Mr. Hungerford, also carried on his former duties as vice-president in charge of operation since that date.

Mr. Hungerford has been acclaimed as a thorough railwayman since the days when, in 1886, he trudged with his dinner pail to the South-eastern railway shops in Farnham, Que. to start his career as an apprentice.

In due course he became a machinist and from that start moved steadily on until in 48 years he has become president of one of the largest railway systems on the North American continent.

ARMS EQUALITY FOR GERMANY IS BRITISH PLAN

London.—Hopes for a way out of the present deadlock in efforts towards limitation and reduction of world armaments were revived here by publication of a revised British disarmament plan, now being studied by the principal powers concerned.

Stepping into the breach existing since Germany abandoned the disarmament conference and the league, the United Kingdom called for adherence to a concrete 10-year plan of actual disarmament, recognition of Germany's claim to equality in arms, and acceptance of further security proposals.

The plan, circulated to principal governments in the form of a memorandum, definitely aims at satisfying Germany's claim for equality and thereby bringing her back into the arms conference and the League of Nations.

The memorandum was seen as an attempt to bridge the gap between the Hitler equality claim and insistence of France on security. It said: "The object of His Majesty's government in formulating these proposals and presenting them for consideration is not to describe the terms of an agreement which they themselves would most desire without regard for the claims or needs of others, but to propound a basis for compromise on which it would appear in the present circumstances a general agreement could and should now be reached."

The heavily-armed powers are urged to abandon certain classes of weapons. It is pointed out that Chancellor Adolf Hitler has declared Germany voluntarily renounces any claim to possess "offensive" weapons and limits herself to normal "defensive" weapons.

Declaring Chancellor Hitler advanced this proposition on the assumption that heavily-armed states are not prepared to abandon, under the convention, any portion of their existing weapons, the memorandum said:

"His Majesty's government, entirely unwilling to accept this last assumption, must insist that the only agreement worthy of the name disarmament convention will be one which contains a reduction as well as a limitation of armaments."

The British memorandum heavily stresses the importance of the principle of equality or rights. Parity between the principal nations is considered of greater importance than any actual figures of army strength or categories of weapons that may finally be agreed.

SUGGESTS THAT CANADA RETIRE FROM LEAGUE

Ottawa.—Canada should retire from the League of Nations while the opportunity exists to do so "honourably" lest the Dominion become enrolled in an European war, said Senator A. D. McRae, of Vancouver, in the senate.

"In my judgment," Senator McRae said, "an European war is a certainty within five years." In suggesting an early withdrawal from the League of Nations as expressed the opinion that "no Canadian life should be sacrificed on the futile battle-field of Europe."

Senator McRae served with distinction during the Great War as quartermaster-general of the overseas Canadian forces. He holds the rank of major-general. His statements were made in the course of the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Basing his conclusions upon observations made during a recent tour of central Europe, General McRae declared that the result of the Versailles treaty had been to set up a group of countries filled with racial ambitions and racial hatreds.

He was not unmindful, General McRae said, of the work done by the league in the suppression of the narcotic and white slave traffic, but it had failed in its main objective of establishing international peace.

"When we are great nations that are already over-populated, paying a bonus for large families," Senator McRae observed, "it is not difficult to conclude what is in their minds."

Senator Forke Passes

One Of Manitoba's Honored Citizens Dies In 74th Year

Winnipeg.—Death claimed Senator Robert Forke, one of Manitoba's most honored former citizens. He died in hospital here in his 74th year.

Senator Forke, called the pioneer of P-pistone, had been confined to hospital since New Year's Day, suffering from heart ailment. Death was not unexpected. The senator's condition had been regarded as critical for the past month, but he waged a stubborn battle for life. His wife and three daughters were at the bedside when the end came.

Coming to eastern Canada in 1882 as an emigrant youth from his home at Gordon, Berwickshire, Scotland, Mr. Forke entered public life shortly after settling in the Pipestone district, and for 29 years was reeve of that municipality.

In 1921 he was first elected to the house of commons as Progressive member for Brandon, and subsequently rose to be Dominion leader of his party. In the general election of 1925 he was re-elected and received an acclamation in 1926.

He was appointed minister of immigration and colonization on formation of the Mackenzie King cabinet, but resigned the post when summoned to the senate December 30, 1929.

He is survived by his widow and three daughters, Ethel, Marjorie and Mary.

New Corn Variety

The variety is to be known as Murrain yellow sweet corn.

Edmonton.—Because John Morawski, a prospector, neglected to get a permit for the gun which he had borrowed to protect himself from bears," and from men, who he said, had threatened to kill him, he will serve a year in jail. He was convicted of a charge of carrying a revolver without a permit.

Bonus Paid U.S. Farmers

Washington, D.C.—Bonus payments to farmers reducing wheat acreage in co-operation with the agricultural adjustment administration program up to January 21, last, totaled $30,994,785 among 399,762 farmers in 35 states. It is planned to pay out about $100,000,000 in this drive.

The Objects of Service Clubs

In practically all towns and communities there are now Service Clubs of various kinds, which, while perhaps devoting a great part of their energies to specific lines of endeavor, nevertheless have one outstanding predominating characteristic common to all. That is the establishing between man and man, whether competitor or not, whether rich or poor, whether of high or low degree in the community, a spirit of co-operation, good will and mutual helpfulness. It is becoming daily more evident that much more can be accomplished and much better conditions established, if men will work in harmony; if they will help and support each other; if they will so conduct their affairs as to be reasonably fair to all with whom they may have business dealings.

The principle can best be exemplified, so far as business and professional men are concerned, by extending to each other in any community such business patronage as we may have to hand out, rather than to extend such favors to those from distant towns or cities. Give to your home business houses all the patronage you possibly can.

The census of 1931 showed that there were 44 grocery chains in operation in Canada, with 749 stores and net sales of $45,044,000; 23 combination chains operating 1,379 stores doing a total business of $74,000,000; 20 meat market chains and one fish market chain, having a combined total of 226 units and sales of $8,448,000.

Of the 2,218 units of grocery, combination, and meat chains, which could be classified as to date of ownership, 336, or 15.1 per cent, were established in 1930; 1,168, or 52.6 per cent, were opened during the years 1926 and 1929; and the remaining 32.3 per cent were in operation prior to 1926. The greatest expansion in these food chains took place in 1929, when 464 new branches, approximately 20 per cent of the total number in operation, in 1930, were opened.

CORRESPONDENCE

Hillcrest, Feb. 7, 1934

Editor Enterprise.
Dear Sir: Would you grant me space in your paper for the following:

The Hillcrest annual meeting was held in the Union hall on February 6th, 1934.

The meeting passed a unanimous vote for five trustees, polling to take place on February the 13th in the Union hall, voting to commence at 1 and continue till 7 p.m.

The following were nominated: Mrs. Lillian Rose, Messrs. Robert Smith, Robert Silcox, George Iwasluk, Gilbert Miller, R. Delaney, J. McDade, F. Balkwill, Robert Gardiner and C. Carlson.

I wish to state to the public that there is no such term as "resident ratepayer" any more in the ordinance. The persons who are qualified to vote at an election for trustees are the electors of the school district. An elector is any person of the age of 21 years, who has resided in the district for at least one year prior to date of the election. A person does not have to be a taxpayer of any kind to be qualified to vote, and it is not necessary for a person to be a British subject in order to vote. It is necessary that a person be a British subject in order to be qualified for nomination as a trustee. Non-payment of taxes does not interfere with a person's right to vote. Here is a form of ballot:

SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Dickson, John	I
Jones, Thomas
Smith, Samuel	I
Tomlinson, Richard	I

The returning officer shall initial each ballot paper before delivering it to the voter. The voter shall place a figure one thus "1" on the right hand side of the ballot paper, opposite the name of the candidate he or she wishes to vote for. He then folds his paper, so as not to show who he has voted for, with just the initials as above mentioned showing.

If any voter is unable to read or write, the returning officer shall mark his ballot as directed by such voter in presence of all persons in the polling place.

Any candidate for office of trustee, or agent appointed by him or her, in writing, shall have a right to remain in the polling place.

Don't forget that every man, woman, son and daughter of the age of 21 can vote. Vote for the ones that will give you a square deal all round.

Thanking you,
yours,
MRS. LILLIAN ROSE.

Drums Of Gordon Highlanders

Germany Returns Captured Drums To Old British Regiment

General Sir Ian Hamilton journeyed to Berlin to receive from President Paul von Hindenburg the drums of Gordon Highlanders and what he describes as a "gallant gesture from a very old soldier of world-wide reputation."

When the second battalion of the Gordon Highlanders landed at Ostend in the autumn of 1914 they were ordered to stack their drums at the police station and proceed with pipes alone in rapid marches. Hearing they were likely to be overwhelmed by heavy German forces, they edged off towards Ypres and never saw Ostend again.

After their long occupation of Ostend the Germans took the Gordon drums and placed them in their war museum. Sir Ian recently made representations to the highest quarters in Berlin with the result he was invited to go to Germany and get the drums.

Service Is Popular

Montreal-Albany Air Service Is Showing Constant Expansion

Regular daily aircraft operations between Montreal and New York have concluded their fifth calendar year with a grand total of 2,388 passengers and 171,784 pounds of mail flown from St. Hubert Airport to those at Albany and Newark.

These figures indicate an average of forty passengers per month, and 2,863 pounds of mail over the entire period, but some measure of the increasing popularity of this service may be obtained from the monthly reports for last year, which show that the average passenger carryings were 53, and that five thousand pounds of mail left Montreal each month.

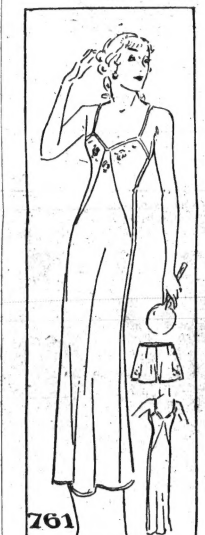

These figures would have been even higher, it was explained by H. O. Young, general manager of Canadian Colonial Airways, if the exceptionally bad weather experienced since the end of October had not occasioned so many cancellations.

Despite unfavorable flying conditions in November and December aeroplanes of Canadian Colonial Airways carried a record quantity of mail southbound during the past 12 months, amounting to 59,370 pounds. At fifty letters to the pound this would indicate a total of three million letters.

SALT

(By Gordon H. Guesst, M.A.)

Common salt, known to the chemist as sodium chloride, has played an important part in man's everyday life since the beginning of time. Although it now has wide-spread commercial uses, it is primarily essential to the diet, and it is estimated that each person consumes twenty-nine pounds of salt in a year.

Salt was first valued by primitive man when cereals became part of his diet. As time went on, it became increasingly important, and bitter wars were waged for it, when nations possessing rich salt deposits were invaded by their less fortunate neighbors.

The first trade routes are said to have been established for the transportation of salt, and the Via Salaria (Road of Salt), one of the most ancient roads in Italy, received its name in this way. Roman soldiers were given salt rations, called "salaris," as part of their pay, and from this is derived our word salary.

Salt has been taxed in many countries, and the role played by the salt tax in the political history of India is well known. In some parts of the world, salt has been used as money, and it is said that in Africa a few pounds of it will purchase a native princess.

To-day salt is used not only on the table, but in the manufacture of many commodities. Large quantities of it are utilized in the production of caustic soda, better known as household lye, which in turn is necessary to the production of hard soaps. It is also used extensively in the production of washing soda, known as sodium carbonate. Further, the decomposition by electricity of a strong solution of salt in water, produces the important gases chlorine and hydrogen. Its well-known use in warfare, chlorine is employed for bleaching textiles, paper and flour, as well as for purifying water supplies. The use of salt as a preservative for meat, fish and other foods is familiar to all.

Salt is said to supply the body almost entirely with hydrochloric acid, an important part of the digestive juice. It is also thought to play a part in the production of the alkaline secretion which keeps the walls of the stomach from being broken down by the digestive juices.

Canada is fortunate in possessing one of the richest salt mines in the world. This is located near Windsor, Ontario, and has an area of over three thousand square miles. The bed is from one thousand to two thousand feet below the surface of the earth, and it is estimated that it contains sufficient salt to last the world for 90,000 years at the present rate of consumption.

Other great salt deposits are found in various parts of the continent including Michigan, Kansas, Ohio, and Louisiana. At Simpson, Saskatchewan, there is a deposit which yields considerable crude salt. In Europe the most celebrated salt deposits are in Prussia, where there are mines which have been worked since the twelfth century. There are also rich deposits in China, Persia, Caucasus, Crimea, the Sahara desert, and in various parts of Australia.

TIMELY WARNINGS

Golden Text: "Every tree that bringeth forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire." Matthew 7:19.

Lesson: Matthew 7:1-29.

Devotional Reading: Proverbs 21:8.

Explanations And Comments

The Golden Rule, verse 12. All things therefore: the context shows the meaning of the word "therefore," since God is so good to us, we must be good to others, verses 7-11. "With these words Jesus closes up the teaching of these chapters and ties them all up in a little bundle," Martin Luther observes. Whosoever ye would that men should do unto you, even so do ye also unto them. "Taken literally, and without qualification, this would mean that we must do to others whatever they want, and give them whatever we might wish upon like conditions. So interpreted, it would mean that we must give the child his lily, the toper his liquor, and even the burglar his booty. Altruism, as Galathey has shown in the entry in his diary, if taken by itself, and followed to its logical issue, ends in anarchy—against which an elemental sanity protests. Obviously Jesus means that we must do unto others not necessarily what they want us to do—but what we ourselves would like them to do unto us if we, with our desires as disciples of Christ, were in their position, and just as we like to be treated, not exactly according to what we are, but according to what we are hoping and trying to be, so we should treat others" (Joseph Fort Newton).

"If you have been reading the Golden Rule, put it on. See how you look in it compared with your appearance in your habitual dress. Put it on your church. Do you recognize your church when it is wearing the Golden Rule? Put it on your city and your nation. In what respects would they change their attitude and conduct if they should come to feel that this rule is a law from heaven for them? Put it on the nations. It belongs there. It is for nations as well as for individuals, it is universal and not local, it is everlasting and not temporary. If only every man and every woman should on every day of all the year obey the Golden Rule" (Charles E. Jefferson).

Marvels of the Human Eye

By F. M. CROWE, Optometrist-Optician, Calgary

NO. 8.—CATARACT

Much ignorance exists as to what a cataract really is. A great many people think it is a growth of some kind on the outside of the eyeball which can be seen with the naked eye—but such is not the case.

A cataract is that condition of the eye in which the Crystalline Lens has, from various causes, lost its former transparency thus preventing the rays of light from passing through it unhindered and focusing a clear image on the Retina. This loss of transparency usually progresses very slowly. Sometimes it starts from a single point or nucleus and gradually spreads throughout the whole Lens while in other cases the entire Lens is involved at the same time. In the latter case it is very difficult, even for an expert with instruments, to recognize it in the early stages but when it becomes more and more cloudy or "milky," the Retina becomes more difficult to observe (with instruments) and finally when the Cataract has become opaque the patient is blind.

That condition then, in which the Lens has become cloudy is known as a Cataractous Lens or Cataract and glasses seldom offer much assistance. In fact, as the condition changes, the Lens swells, necessitating the frequent changing of the glasses worn. It eventually the Lens having become so convex, the effect of the convex glasses formerly worn is neutralized and such people can read better (but not satisfactorily) without glasses than with those formerly worn and this is the false idea of "second sight" originated. There is no such condition in normal life as "second sight" and such an apparent experience was or is due to the above cause. It is next to impossible, however, to make many people believe this. They insist it is due to a relative liveness to be over ninety years of age and could see to read without glasses although he formerly had to wear them, hence he must have got his "second sight." In the first place much people have no means of knowing condition of the eyeball. Occasionally both eyes are simultaneously affected but usually the opacity appears in one Lens years in advance of the other but eventually both eyes become diseased. When the Cataracts have become "ripe" the patient has difficulty in distinguishing daylight from darkness and in proportion to the progress of the disease, dimness of vision follows for which glasses are of little or no avail. Patient sees as if he were in a fog or as if a film is before the eyes. He usually has an aversion to bright light and in fact perceives a dark or cloudy day because he sees better and more comfortably. Cataracts do not cause any inflammatory action but induce blindness.

Technically there are several varieties and the causes are many. There is the Senile due to extreme old age but fortunately few even very old people are afflicted. Injury to the eyeball at some time of life is a common cause for Cataracts although of the body have a tendency to produce it. Bright's Disease for example. There is no medicine, exercise or other "cures" for Cataracts although much money and time, with resultant sorrow, have been spent by people who have fallen into the hands of the fakir (usually by means of literature) who has promised cures with his nostrums for "special glasses." Surgery, performed by a skillful operator, when the Cataract is "ripe" is the only solution and which cures the patient. The Lens has been successfully removed from the eyeball and proper glasses supplied which restore the patient to the rays of light from passing into the eye and focusing on the Retina and very often one hundred per cent vision obtainable.

Cut Will Be Continued

Salaries Of Federal Civil Service Workers Not Changed

The 10 per cent salary reduction for civil servants, members of the house of commons and senators will be continued another year, it was shown when the estimates for the financial year, opening in April were tabled in the house of commons.

The salary cut was established as an economy move in the financial year 1932-33 and was continued last year. Last year it was estimated to have saved the national treasury $8,000,000.

Civil servant associations sought its repeal last year and again this year but were unsuccessful. Statutory increases, suspended two years ago as well, will continue to be held up.

Paris Pawnshops Lead Money On Nearly Everything Else

The state pawnshop of Paris will not lend money on balloons. A man has just been successful in pawning an aeroplane, and in doing so was told by the pawnshop that he was not trying to pawn a balloon, because the institution had loaned money on a balloon 60 years ago, and had a suit brought against it because the balloon's fabric burst and made it leak badly. ## SOURD ON THE WORLD?—THAT'S LIVER

Wake up your Liver Bile

Many people who feel weak and generally unwell make the mistake of taking milk, cold mineral water, and other "refreshing" drinks, or perhaps only one glass of beer, and so on. They are not taking any of the food they need to wake up their liver. The liver is the most important organ in the body. It is the source of bile, which is necessary for the digestion of food. If the liver is weak, the bile is not produced in sufficient quantities, and the food is not properly digested. This leads to a variety of symptoms, including indigestion, constipation, and general weakness. The best way to wake up the liver is to eat a diet rich in bile-stimulating foods, such as lemons, limes, and other citrus fruits. These fruits contain citric acid, which stimulates the liver to produce bile. Other foods that are good for the liver include green leafy vegetables, such as spinach and kale, and whole grains, such as wheat and oats. It is also important to drink plenty of water and to get regular exercise. If you are experiencing any of the symptoms mentioned above, it is best to consult a doctor.

She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are: Avis, a friend, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter; Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, her former roommate with whom he has quarreled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter entertains Camilla's guests with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the party, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Avis is stunned and Camilla's mother likewise decides that she must leave the home of her adopted parents immediately and go to live with Rose, her sister, who is a file clerk in a business house. They decide to take an apartment. Bowman and Welch, an advertising agency, where Camilla has submitted some of her work, send for her and tell her they have a new account which requires unusual treatment of juvenile art. To Camilla's surprise she learns that the account is that of her foster father's company, which has decided on an extensive campaign to bolster up lagging business.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XXIX

Camilla's first thought was to rush to Peter with the news. Then a second one assailed her—what if she failed? Could she admit that? No, she was riding the crest of the wave of excitement now—or was she riding in the clouds again? She shivered and shivered, she guided her car by instinct and habit through the lanes of traffic. It behooved her to come down to earth, forget her own reactions and breathless hopes, and consider seriously the problem before her.

"Yes?" she called impatiently.
"Will you answer the telephone, Miss Camilla?"
"Who is it?"
"Mr. Anson calling. I thought you might."
"Why, of course, I didn't include Peter when I said I wasn't at home to anyone," she laughed.
"I thought you didn't," Bates grinned slyly. He never smiled in anyone's presence save Camilla's.
"Hello, Lovable," Peter's sunny voice greeted her. "What are you doing?"
"Oh, don't ask me, darling, because I can't tell you now, please."
"Is that so? Why not, I'd like to know?"
"It's a surprise—a nice one. And if you ask me another question, I shan't be able to keep the secret, Peter. What are you doing?"
"Well, that's a surprise, too," he bantered, "but I just finished it and now I want to see you. It has been three days—or didn't you know?"
"I thought it was three weeks, but I may be wrong. But darling, I can't see you now."
"Soon, then," he insisted. "Meet me at Charm Cottage for dinner at six. I want to look at something beautiful and talk to something sweet."

"Oh, Peter, I'm so sorry, but I can't. I'm terribly busy and can't be disturbed at all tonight." Her heart yearned to say "yes" and meet him eagerly and share that sweet pleasure of dining with him at Charm Cottage—where they had shared their wedding dinner. Here, already, was where her career stopped in and demanded first consideration. Perhaps if she explained to him, it would help. No—she had to take a chance that Peter would understand. Perhaps, after all, a test of his faith. But her doubt reproached her.

"Busy—at what?" he inquired with dismay.
"Work."
"Did you get a position?" quickly.
"No—not yet." It was so difficult to tell him about it.
"Well, then, there's tomorrow and all the other tomorrows for your work."
"No, Peter, I can't see you, tonight," firmly.

"When—then?" he asked, after a moment of silence, and his voice sounded desolate.

She clung to her resolution and thought rapidly. If—something definite should be decided tomorrow, she could have dinner with him and tell him the wonderful news. Probably, there would be no decision even for days after she submitted her drawings. Even so, it would be wonderful to see Peter, and she would have to try to keep her secret from him.

"Make it tomorrow," she said. "And I'm awfully sorry about tonight, dear."
"May I stop in for a few minutes, then, later?" anxiously. "You're not ill?"
"Oh, no, dear. And please don't stop in. I do want to see you awfully much—but I can't."
"Okay, then. Tomorrow at six."
"Goodbye, Peter."
"Bye, Lovable."

She put down the telephone regretfully, sat musing forlornly for a moment, then rose quickly and returned to her work. "If you're a good sport, you'll play this game by the rules you laid out when you invented it. Your and Peter's careers come first—marriage second, for awhile. Peter has been splendid about it all. Now, don't you give in at the first test." She gave herself a little shake of impatience and returned to her drawing board to lose herself again in the make-believe world which her imagination had created for her this day.

She had dinner, also, alone in her room. For one thing, she did not wish to face those stern, probing eyes of her foster father, yet, with this new secret in her heart, it had been different about the secret she had shared with Peter. That was hers alone. This matter concerned her benefactor vitally, and she feared for the effect of his influence upon her work, if he saw him now. Besides, she wished to remain alone until her plan had been worked out. So she had a light dinner alone, practised a series of calisthenics to relieve her taut muscles and resumed work.

She was amazed when the pert little clock on her desk chimed a musical midnight, and increased her effort. The work had to be finished before morning. Inside the house, and the stillness grew heavier. Like the darkness, muffled footsteps from the street were diminished until there was only an occasional brief whirr-r of a passing automobile. A clock rumbled past. Only the little clock kept insisting that the night was passing and trying to remind her every quarter hour how late it was. Three o'clock. Camilla tolled on, steadily.

After a long interval of intense silence, she started suddenly by the sound of a stopped motor and soft thudding of quick footsteps in the driveway. Her heart seemed to stop beating and a cold grip gripped her for an instant. Thumps in the room, the house, relaxed, laughing shakily to herself. The milkman, of course. It was the silence and weariness and her long concentration that had caused her to be frightened so foolishly.

At four o'clock, she looked up at surprise to discover that the windows were pale grey squares of light. A new light crept into the room, and presently it was dawn. At six o'clock, she stopped work and surveyed her efforts. Tired as she was, a thrill of pleasure possessed her. She arranged the cards in her portfolio, stripped and slipped into a hot tub. Then she slept for two hours and awoke at the regular time for breakfast.

Little Helps For This Week

"My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest." Exodus 33:14

"Thou wilt show me the path of life—in Thy presence is fullness of joy, at Thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore." Psalm 16:11

They presence fills my mind with peace,
Brightens the thought so dark
erewhile,
Bids cares and sad foreboding
cease,
Makes all things smile.
—Charlotte Elliott.

How shall we wrat in God? By giving ourselves wholly to Him. If you give yourself by halves you cannot find full rest; there will ever be a lurking disquiet in the half which is withheld. Martyrs, confessors and saints have tried this rest, and counted themselves happy in that they endured. A countless host of God's faithful servants have drunk deeply of it under the daily burden of a weary life; dull, commonplace, painful or desolate. All that God has been to them he is ready to be to you. The heart once fairly given to God with a clear conscience, a fitting rule of life, and a steadfast purpose of obedience, you will find a wonderful sense of rest coming over you.—Jean Nichols Grosu.

South Africa Confident

Governor-General's Speech At Opening Of Parliament Optimistic

A new note of confidence and relief at the prosperity arising from the country's healthy financial position was observable as the Union parliament of South Africa opened a new session with the usual ceremonial Observers foresee a certain budget surplus and reduction of taxation accordingly.

The speech from the throne read by Lord Clarendon, governor-general, was couched in an optimistic tone throughout. It referred to the improved agricultural position following the breaking up of the long drought and declared unemployment had eased markedly as farmers who had left their farms to seek employment elsewhere were returning to the land. The Coalition government under Premier P. B. M. Hertzog and General Jan Smuts, erstwhile leader of the opposition, has an overwhelming majority in the house following the general elections of last year. Formal fusion of the two main parties in South African politics is nearly complete.

A very stout man was walking on the promenade of a seaside town when he noticed a weighing machine with the notice—"I speak your weight."

He put a penny in the slot and stood on the platform. "A voice answered, "One at a time, please!"

"If you try to kiss me, I shall scream!"

"Oh, with all these people about, surely?"

"Let's find a quieter spot, then!"

37 lbs. OF FAT GONE

No Wonder She Looks Younger!

"How much younger you are looking!" What a pleasure to hear that compliment from your friends' lips—as this woman did.
"Since I started taking Kruschen Salts," she writes, "I have reduced myself by 37 lbs. I am still going down and hope soon to be normal weight. My health has greatly improved. My friends see such a difference in me now. I look younger, and I have such a fresh look always about my face which I never used to have. I take my usual food, but my first drink in the morning is my little dose of Kruschen Salts, which I will never be without." (Mrs. K.)
"The six salts in Kruschen keep the organs of elimination in perfect trim and so ensure a regular, gentle and natural clearance of all fat-forming food refuse."

A Heavy Responsibility

Watchfulness At All Times Is Required Of Motorists

Motorists seems to require constant admonition to be careful and guard against accidents to children on the streets. This warning is issued frequently by automobile clubs and still the danger exists. "Children should be seen and not hurt," is the slogan adopted by a public safety committee in a recent campaign. While watchfulness may be more urgent during vacations than at other times it is a good practice to observe at all times and in all places. "Many children," the committee emphasizes, "will be found on streets and highways as pedestrians, bicycle riders and at play. Whether playing or using the streets and highways for other purposes, children cannot be expected to display the same mature judgment and safety consciousness as adults. Motorists cannot safely assume that a child will take note of an approaching car and step out of the way. Responsibility for the protection of children in traffic rests largely upon the motorist."

Latest Chemical Product

Synthetic Castor Oil Has Advantages Over Natural Kind

Synthetic castor oil, which is one of the latest products of the chemicalists' skill, is described as having many advantages over the natural oil.

First of all it can be produced in unlimited quantities at a low and stable price. It has no pronounced coloration.

Because of its chemical composition the synthetic castor oil greatly retards rancidity in soaps. It can also be used in toilet creams and face powders.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

TO MY MOTHER

You, who have never faltered,
Once through the changeable years,
You, who have never failed me,
Whether in joys or tears.
You, who have soothed each sorrow,
Who have assuaged each ache,
What can my poor lot offer
Fit for your heart to take?

Just as your love is flawless,
Steadfast and not of earth,
It will endow my efforts
Out of its own vast worth:
So I dare bring you daily
Work of my faulty hand,
Certain your love's perfection
Ever will understand!

Feed For Average Flock
The amount of grain and mash a flock of birds will eat in a week will vary with the flock and with the season. Some flocks will eat more than others. On the average, however, in a week's time, fifty White Leghorns would eat about an equal amount of grain and about an equal amount of mash in the form of water. In the late spring and summer birds are encouraged to eat more mash than grain by cutting down the amount of scratch that is fed.

After all, it is favorable commentary on human nature that the year's busiest shopping season is a result of a general desire to find one's own pleasure in somebody else's.

Hundreds of citizens turned out on Monday afternoon to witness the caterpillar plow in operation.
